

Solace MEDICAL SPA

By JENNIFER WEBB

“A lot of people have the idea that aesthetics is all about vanity, but it's not. We've seen it affect people physically and emotionally, where they don't want to leave their house or socialize. We want people to be confident as themselves in their own skin.”

- Christy White,
Owner, Solace Med Spa

Christy and Dr. White had known each other for a long time, but they reconnected in 2022 and got married a year later. She is a licensed esthetician with a passion for learning and for helping clients feel more comfortable in their own skin and growing in self-confidence. After many heartfelt discussions, they decided to go into business together.

They started in one room of Dr. White's office at Searcy Dermatology. There was a ton of training, and Christy found each one exciting. They soon learned that their combination of skills was ideal, but highly unusual. With a licensed esthetician and a board-certified dermatologist, they were the med spa dream team.

Each procedure and each machine required training, but each one offered another way to help their patients. Now, Dr. White could say, “Yes, there is something we can do to help combat your thinning hair.” He could also say yes to doing something beyond the normal medications to help with acne, acne scars, age spots, dark patches, redness, sun damage, and a whole host of other skin-related issues. They were both excited to have more options and ways to help their patients.

Christy's perky personality and sincere desire to help continued to build relationships with their patients on the aesthetic side of the business. They worked with a philosophy of taking care of their patients first. They focused on individualized care that would give the best result for that person. They stayed away from anything that would look fake and concentrated only on things that would emphasize the person's natural beauty.

They were here to make a difference in people's lives, not just a paycheck. They even started giving back and offering training on their machines to other professionals around the state. As the clientele grew, they found themselves having to book a few weeks out in advance. Christy's dreams started growing, too.

She envisioned a med spa experience: A place where every detail was designed to make the clients feel comfortable, at home, and beautiful. A place where they felt like they were treating themselves and where their self-confidence grew. A place that helped them feel more like themselves again. A place that did just a little bit extra, offering lattes, water, and thank you gifts for clients who bought large packages.

“Yes, there is something we can do to help combat your thinning hair.”

They started renovations on the office space next door to Searcy Dermatology. After lots of hard work, early mornings, and long nights, Solace Medical Spa came to life. It has six exam rooms, two IV rooms with reclining chairs, red light therapy, a relaxing atmosphere, a consultation room, and a beautiful lobby. But what really makes it come to life is the well-trained staff.

Christy herself is a laser tech, cosmetologist, and esthetician. Of the five staff members, most have multiple certifications, and Taylor Howe is a board-certified family nurse practitioner. With Taylor's expertise, they now offer a medical weight-loss program, IV therapy, and several new and exciting injectable services.

Taylor is passionate about seeing her patients get healthier from the inside out, and with their other procedures, they can offset any unwanted side effects from the weight loss. They offer skin tightening services, facial rejuvenation via dermal filler or PRP, non-surgical upper and lower facelifts, neck lifts, and even offer laser liposuction!

They also offer several other innovative procedures including:

- ✓ IV Therapy
- ✓ Fat Transfer
- ✓ Platelet Rich Plasma (PRP) Injectables
- ✓ Resurfacing Laser
- ✓ RF Microneedling
- ✓ HydroFacial
- ✓ Laser Hair Removal

Dr. White likes to say they offer big city results with a small town feel.

“We want our clients to feel like we really are one big family. We are constantly following up and checking on them, and working with them together on what the next step is in their treatment plan. Each of them is not just another number to us.”
